The Albany delegation came awinging along in the afternoon bearing a banner and headed by a band and Judge D. Cady Herrick. It was remarked that this was the first band to arrive and the ladies in the United States and Grand Union flitted out upon the broad verandae to listen to the strains.

The regular Democrats of Kings and the Tammany braves came late. Mayor Gilroy, speaking Tammany, said the organization had no can didate for Governor. Senator McCarty said that he and his people were for Gaynor. Both of these organizations were to have held meetings tonight, but they were postponed till to-morrow

Senator McCarty, speaking for the Brooklyn Democrats, said that they will leave the Convention if the Shepardites are recognized on the State Committee, "If the Shepardites go in we go out," added the Senator. This was startling news, for the reason that equally influential Democrats from Kings have maintained all along that the Shepardites would receive some recognition in this Convention.

While the talk over these matters was bemore interesting, in came the Westchester folks, with ex-Senator Charles P. Mc-Clelland at the head. Mr. McClelland says that he is not a candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, this leads naturally to the list of candidates for this high office heard to-day, The name of Senator John J. Linson has already been mentioned, and to-day the friends of Gen. Martin T. MacMahon pushed him to the front. After that the cronies of Civil Service Commissioner Van Vleit thought that he ought to receive the prize. So it will be observed that in the list of candidates for Lieutenant-Governor there is plenty of healthy

It is now well known that Mr. Murphy is to retire as Chairman of the State Committee, to be succeeded by Major J.W. Hinckley of Poughepsie, and that Samuel A. TAMMANY TAKES THE TOWN.

The Braves Reach Saratoga and Are All Talking Whitney for Governor, SARATOGA, Sept. 24.—The trip of the Tammany braves from New York to Saratoga today was without incident, unless the consuming of about 4,000 spring chickens, as many ham wine could be called an incident. The braves came on three trains, more than 1,300 strong. The first train started from the Grand Central braves. Among them were John D. Crimmins. Rellly, James W. Boyle, Gen. Dan Sickles, Michael F. Blake, Col. George D. McClel-land, Gen. Martin T. McMahon, Delos Mc-Curdy, Judge Goldfogle, Nick Brown, John F. Carroll, Street Commissioner Andrews, Judge Ehrlich, Col. William T. and Corporation Counsel Clark, They had with them the delegations of the Sixteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-third, Ninth, Eighth, Thirteenth, Tenth, Fourteenth, and First, and as many of the friends of the delegations as $16 hours' ride on a railroad does not amount to much, unless it is Tammany Hall that is going to take the ride. Tammany does things up in shape. Why, it took the porters from 9 o'clock in the morning until 12 just to load the stuff aboard that train, and even then some crates were left behind. The train was in charge of Leader Boyle. The engine blew her whistle when she started out, and Major Boyle blew a whistle when the north end of the tunnel was reached. That was a sig-nal for the various assistants to pull the corks and dish up the rosat chicken and ndwiches. After a while Mr. Boyle blew another whistle and another set of assistants trot-it was just the quietest and nicest party one Twenty miles from Saratoga the first word about politics was spoken. It is true that before that a youthful genius had proposed taking a poll, but he was properly sat down upon as an instance of astnine stupidity, and was probably thrown off the train. At least, nobody saw him right into town this train became a tremendous william C. Whitney beam. There was not a man on it who did not talk Whitney. Mr. John D. Crimmins was the most distinguished of the Whitney boomers. To THE SUN reporter Mr. Crimmins said:

Whitney boomers. To THE SEN reporter Mr. Crimmins said:

"Tammany Hall is not coming to this Convention with a candidate, and it is indifferent as to who is nominated into so the successful man is the best Democrat in the State of New York. It is coming to assist as far as it can by its advice and its experience to select such a candidate. It is not here to fight. Now, my own idea and that of a great many other men on this train is that Mr. William t. Whitney is the man of all men to be nominated this year. The conditions are such that it is necessary to put up a telest that will appeal to the people and that telest that will appeal to the people and that will secure value. Mr. Whitney, it my judgment, is the man to head that ticket and that will secure votes. Mr. Whitney, in my judgment, is the man to head that ticket. He is as well known, nationally and throughout the State, as Mr. Morton. He is a man of as much experience as Mr. Morton, and fe has the advantage of the Republican candidate in the matter of years, which is a great point in his favor. As an organizer and a worker Mr. Whitney is the equal, aye, the superior of any other man in the State. There is not a thing that could be urged against him if he would only accept the nomination."

"Would be accept the nomination."

"I don't know. But the conditions now are different than they were a month ago. Then it looked as if toy, Flower could have the nomination if he asked for it, and it was thought that he would ask for it. His sudden withdrawal was a misfortune, but his reasons were sufficient.

he would ask for it. His sudden withdrawai was a misfortune, but his reasons were sufficient."

"Who is your choice for second place?"

"If Mr. Whitney would take first place," said Mr. Crimmine, "my choice for second place would be Mr. Frederick Cook of Rochester, the ex-Secretary of State. I have not got any second choice for the head of the ticket, and I think the proper thing to do is to wait until Mr. Whitney arrives and find out whether or not be will secept. For the position of Judge of the Court of Appeals, I think that Mr. Frederic R. Coudert is the ideal candidate. A sterling citizen, a man of tremendous ability, a man of judicial mind and great judicial experience, he, I think, is the man who should be nominated for that place."

"Would not the nomination of Mr. Coudert make it necessary to recognize the Cuckoo Democracy?"

"Oh, not at all, not at all." said Mr. Crimmins.

make it necessary to recognize the Cuckoo Democracy?"

"Oh, not at all, not at all, "said Mr. Crimmins, "that would not be necessary, but mind what I tell you about Mr. Whitney," he added.

The second biggest Whitney boomer was expeaker Sulzer. "Whitney," said Sulzer, "towers above them all, I think you will find that is the opinion on this train. Mr. Whitney is a man of great expurience, a man of national reputation, a man whose name is a household words in the State of New York. I think If Mr. Whitney would accept the nomination he would sweet the State. I have been travelling sround now for the state of New York. I think If Mr. Whitney would accept the nomination he would sweet the State. I have been travelling sround now for the state of New York. I think If Mr. Whitney could carry it by not less than 50,000 majority."

After Mr. Suizer came Mr. Boyle, and then John Relliy, then Gen. Modabon, and before Saratoga was reached there was not anybody who was anybody who had not said Whitney, and there was not a man Jack of them who was willing to express an opilion about a second choice in case Mr. Whitney should refuse to accept the nomination.

who was anybody who had not said whitney, and there was not a man Jack of them who was willing to exprers an opilion about a second choice in case Mr. Whitney should refuse to accept the nomination.

Tammany's first train got to Saratoga at about 5:30. Preceding them one-half hour had come the Cuckoo Democracy, with Col. Robert Grier Monros and Fatty Grots at the head. The exhibition that the Cuckoos made rather wearled the Saratogians, and they steered them into one of the big hotel courts, where they were lost, at least they were lost the moment Tammany got to town. Tammany might be said to have swooped down on the town. Ten minutes after the first train got in there was a general belief that there were four million instead of four hundred. Every man wore a badge. It was a blue bow knot with the words in gilt "Tammany Hall, Sept. 25, 1884." The crowd came down on the Grand Union Hotel like an avalanche. A lot of them had engaged rooms at the United States Hotel. It happens that the big Unitarian Convention is booked for this week, and every big Unitarian goes to the United States Hotel. Four or five hundred big Unitarians got in shortly before Tammany, and they were standing in line getting registered when the Tammany man got mixed up with a lot of Unitarians, and this led to some amusing mistakes at the clerk's desk. When the clerks found Tammany man got mixed up with a lot of Unitarians, and this led to some amusing mistakes at the clerk's desk. When the clerks found Tammany man got mixed up with a lot of Unitarian coming along pretty thick they began to ask everybody who registered whether he was Tammany or Unitarian.

It happened that the Hon. George Friable Hoar of the United States Senator and a him and said: "Tammany, sir?" Mr. Hoar looked at him and said "Naw" it also happened that the United States Senator had not come in line. He had kind of forced his way up to the desk, and when he said "Naw" it elects he best of his Senatorial dignity and took a place in line, but his dignity had the greatest kin yery numbly and got me room.

Another incident, something like that in which Mr. Hoar figures, was when Judge Henry M. Goldfogle came along to register. The clerk eyed him, and as he handed the pen over said:

"Unitarian, sir?" There was a twinkle in Judge Goldfogle's eyes when he responded:

"No, Presbyterian. But say, what difference does it make? I don't believe in bringing these matters of religion into politics." matters of religion into politics."

"Oh. A. P. A.," said the clerk.
"No," said the Judge. "Just Presbyterian.
That's one on me. Give me a room." And he That's one on me. Give me a room." And he got it.

Tammany's second train contained the delegates of the Eighteenth, Seventeenth, Nineteenth, Fifteenth, Twenty-fourth, Twenty-second, Twentieth districts, and they were in charge of Senator Flunkitt. Ex-Mayor Hugh J. Grant, Kreise Commissioner Eugene L. Bush, David McClure, Register Levy, John R. Fellowa, and State Senator Jacob Cantor were some of the prominent men on this train. This train got into Saratoga about an hour after the first, although it started only ten minutes later. The reason for that was that there was a shortage of dessert on the train, and quite a long stop was made at Poughkeepsie to enable everybody to get off and eat ple. They cleaned the Poughkeepsie restaurant out of ple and cream puffs before they resumed their journey.

The third train was commanded by Police Jus-

The third train was commanded by Police Justice Burke, and it carried the delegates of the Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, Twenty-seventh, Third, Second, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eleventh, and Tweifth districts. Of the prominent men on that train there was Judge John Henry McCartny, Michael J. Mulqueen, Jacob Ruppert, Jr., and Coroner Fitzpatrick. This train did not get in until gretty near 9 o'clock, Ruppert, Jr., and Coroner Fitzpatrick. This train did not get in until gretty near 9 o'clock, sithough it waited only a little while after the others had left before starting. The reason was that it picked up stragglers all along the way. Wherever along the line of the New York Central Railroad a Tammany man was found the train stopped and picked him up.

By 10 o'clock to-night the town looked to be fuller of Tammany men than Tammany Hall during a county convention. They are still taking Ex-Secretary Whitney. They are shouting at this very moment over the news that Judge Gaynor will not accept the nomination, and they are saying, while they keep up their Whitney talk, that they do not believe Mr. Whitney will accept it either.

THE STATE DEMOCRACY ON HAND. They Say They Expect to Get a Representation in the Convention.

SARATOGA, Sept. 24.-The New York State Democracy arrived here this afternoon at about :30. They had a special train which left the Grand Central at 9:30 in the morning. It was made up of nine cars, and Fatty Grote, the leader, claimed that he had 250 men along with him. Those who could not afford to come were at the depot and saw the party off.

Mr. Grote and his party reached Poughkeepsie without incident, and they made the same sort of a raid on the depot restaurant that Tammany train No. 2 made some time later. Before Sara toga was reached a lot of boxes were produced and from them were taken long purple ribbons with gold tassels, and bearing the legend. "New York State Democracy, Saratoga, 1894." It was the idea of the New York State Democracy that when they got to town they were go ing to own it. They landed at just about the moment that a train load of Unitarians came in. and they found that the Unitarians had first call on everything, including the carriages at the depot, the colored porters who carry handbags, the bootblacks, the depot restaurant, and every

the bootblacks, the depot restaurant, and everything else in sight. Further than that, the Unitarians looked at the badges and then at the faces, and then their hands strayed mechanically to their watch pockets. Mr. Grote took an account of stock right there on the platform, and, nudging a Unitarian in the ribs, he said:

"Say, don't you think we will get in the Convention?"

The Unitarian jumped three feet and exclaimed: "My, my! these must be new converts, aren't they? Surely, they have not been long in the fold."

"Who said they were in the fold?" said Mr. Grote. "They are going to get in, though; that's what they are here for."

The Unitarian said "My, my" again, while Mr. Grote and his men marched off.

Among the distinguished men of Mr. Grote's party who are going to try to get in were Mr. Great Scott, the man who ran for Mayor on the P. M. L. ticket; Mr. John Brooks Leavitt, Mr. E. Ellery Anderson, and Mr. Simon Sterne. Mr. Sterne was asked by The Sun reporter what they expected to do.

"Expect to get in." said Mr. Sterne. "It is not formally decided yet who will present the case, but probably Mr. Frederic M. Condert and Mr. Wheeler H. Peckham will appear before the committee. They will endawor to prove in their arguments that the New York State Democracy is the only regular Democracy of the city and county of New York, and they will demand that the whole delegation be seated of course," said Mr. Sterne quite seriously. "It isn't expected that the whole delegation will be seated, but it is boped that a half, or at the lowest a third, will get places."

"Ind you hear about Mr. John E. Milholiand?" he was asked, and he walked away with a look of pain.

When the cuckoos got to the Grand Union Hotel they were steered out into the hig courty yard, and they wandered around that for nearly as the rais they are losing the Hou. Charles S. Fairchild may have to pay their way back to lown.

SARATOGA FULL OF DEMOCRATS. Gaynor's Withdrawal Revives the Hopes of Other Candidates-The Pintform, By United Press.

SARATOGA, Sept. 24.-The Democracy has ar rived and Saratoga is overcrowded. Broadway is black with people. The hotel corridors are filled with surging crowds. Mobs beseige the dining rooms. Rooms are only to be had at cottages and small boarding houses. Political henchmen from all parts of the State are here, and, in the words of one of them, "Democratic prospects grow hourly."

If numbers indicate victory, the ticket to be named at the Convention which sits to-morrow will win easily. The Grand Union is the heart of the turmou. There the State Committee has its quarters. There Tammany Hall, the State Democracy, the Kings county Democracy, the Democrats of Eric and a score of other counties have their headquarters, and there David B. Hill is stopping. Every room in the vast cara-vansary is occupied, and its corridors present a scene of animation equalled but a few times in

On the eye of the Convention, after talking with the party leaders and exhausting every avenue of information, nothing can be predicted with certainty as to its action further than that it will be Democratic in every respect, even to the selection of the ticket.

Several men will be named and voted for, acording to the belief of the delegates as to their ability to win in November. Every variety of Democrat is in favor of the man who can be backed to win. Bourke Cockran, and De Lancey Nicoll.

Fellows, W. Bourke Cockran, and De Lancey Nicoli.

After the conference Mr. Nicoli said that Senator Hill discussed the different candidates who had been named, and, though he expressed a friendly feeling for John Boyd Thacher, he indicated no preference. Senator Hill talked with scores of statesmen, big and little, during the evening, and not one of them seemed to gather any definite idea of who is the choice of the senior Senator.

Judge William J. Gaynor undoubtedly had the strongest support, and was regarded as the candidate most likely to win by the influential men of the party during the day and until 10 o'clock this evening, when a telegram was received announcing the withdrawal of Judge Gaynor from the race. When it was shown to Schator Hill he expressed no striprise. He had a talk with Edward M. Shepard a short time afterward, and with other Kings county men.

will commend those features of the new tariff law which agree with the Democratic principle of free raw materials, and in a measure voice the sentiments expressed by Fresident Cleveland to Congressman Wilson while the tariff bill was in conference.

It will depreciate any further general revision of the tariff, but will advocrate the passage of separate bills for the perfection of certain schedules. It will endorse President Cleveland's Administration as conducive to the best interests of the country. The theome tax provision of the new Tariff bill will be condemned.

On State issues the platform will arraign the Republican party for what it terms the intense partisan legislation passed by the Republican party to the Constitutional Convention as being in the apoctal interest of the Republican party especially the new apportionment scheme. The platform will contain a plank strongly endorsing the Administration of Gov. Flower, and express much regret at his determination to decline a renomination.

In general the platform will denounce the Republican party for various acts of commission and omission. The platform will also likely contain a plank deprecating the existence of organizations having for their object the defeat for political preferment of candidates on account of race or religion.

GAYNOR WILL NOT BUN.

He Positively Beelines to Allow His Name

RIVERHEAD, L. I., Sept. 24,-Justice William Gaynor's Gubernatorial boom was punctured tonight by the Justice himself, who sent a telegram to M. L. Towns at Saratoga positively declining to run for Governor

"I have never been a candidate," said the Justice to a reporter of THE SUN as he was leaving the Long Island House on his way to an evening session of court to-night.

'I don't want the nomination and was never a candidate. To-day while in court I have been greatly annoyed by telegrams from delegates in have been unable to obtain any peace, and have the matter at rest. I don't wish to be quoted didate and don't want to be a candidate. How can I say who is the logical candidate of the party? I have not been keeping track of affairs closely enough to venture an opinion.

Referring to the story of his divorce the Jus-tice said: "I have nothing whatever to say about that matter, and I will leave it to my neighbors. They know the story. My statement contains everything I want to say." Justice Gaynor's prominence in connection with the nomination drew an unusually large gathering to the court over which he presides. The term will probably last until Thursday. Justice Morgan O'Brien was one of the promi ent visitors at the court to-day. He had a short talk with the Justice.

STATEN ISLAND FOR GAYNOR. Both Regulars and Anti-Samppers Want

Richmond county is for Judge Gaynor. Sc much was settled yesterday afternoon when the leaders of all the Democratic wings expressed themselves as in favor of the Brooklyn man for The regular Democratic delegates left for Sar-stogs early in the day, and, headed by Nicholas Mulier, who, perhaps, to the most influential politician on the island, they all committed hemselves, when in conversation, to the popuar candidate.

'We must win this fight," said Mr. Muller. and, so far as I can see, Judge Gaynor is the man to lead us to victory. He will be stronger in Richmond county than any other candidate. There is a so-called Democratic organization in Richmond county which does not affiliate with the regulars. Its members vote one ticket occasionally and another generally. They held Democrats for the time being. They had previ-ously held primaries, for which they issued a three days' notice, instead of the six days' required by the State Committee. The notice required every voter to be enrolled at least five days, or two days before the notice was issued. But as the call only appeared in a Republican paper, perhaps this did not matter. At any rate, there were 131 voters present at the anti-snap primaries to represent forty-two election districts—about three to a district. And forty-nine delegates gathered in what was styled a convention at Stapleton yesterday, or one to every 250 voters. The forty-nine had a love feast, with Howard R. Bayne as lover-in-chief.

James D. Van Hoevenberg was chosen Chair-

James D. Van Hosvenberg was chosen Chair-James D. Van Hoevenberg was chosen Chairman, and then the Convention began the difficult task of finding delegates who would pay their own fare to Saratoga. Mr. Bayne voluntered to involve himself in this expense, and he was enthusiastically chosen as head delegate. Half a dozen others declined the honor with thanks, and finally James Wheeler said he expected to be up North anyhow, and would be willing to meet Mr. Bayne there. Mr. Wheeler's offer was accepted with cheers, and then D. T. Cornell was prevailed upon to accompany the others if the weather was good.

Alternates were not provided; a dozen were suggested, but all said they had pressing business engagements at home.

Mr. Hayne, who is about all there is left of the auti-snap organization on Staten Island, is a strong Gaynor man. He does not expect to be Gaynor.

The anti-snappers also appointed a committee to confer with the Republicans, and declared their intention to fight the Democratic county ticket, but to support the State ticket if Judge Gaynor is the nominee for Governor. Judge Culien was endorsed for reflection.

Masterson, President Cleveland's regent appointe as Surveyor of Customs; the Rev. Dr. Terry, a Catholic priest, and John Rowe, the leader of the Herrick Democracy. All wore badges with a picture of Thacher and the inscription, "Thacher Our Next Governor." They will do all they can toward having Thacher nominated.

Criticism of the Bemorratic Compatguers in Various States Who Disagree on the Insuce of the Pending Canvass-Senator Sorman Prefere to Talk Horse Instead of Palities - Renator Mc Pharman's Rosente Views of the Situation in New Jersey. WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 .- A Democratic Conressman who has just returned from New fork says he talked with Col. Payne, the brother-in-law of ex-Secretary Whitney, a few days ago on the subject of the gubernatorial nomination, and Col. Payne said positively that Mr. Whitney would not accept the nomina of the Saratoga Convention. The politicians here are deeply interested in the approaching Convention, especially the Democrata. They read closely everything on the subject that omes from New York city, Albany, or Saratoga for they claim that unless the New York Democrats nominate a winner the control of the House will surely pass into the hands of the Republicans. Personally the Democrats here would be pleased to see Mr. Whitney nominated to oppose Mr. Morton, because they know him better than any of the other gentlemen, excepting Senator Hill, who are named This positive statement of Col. Payne that under no consideration will Mr. Whitney become the candidate of the party, will probably put an end to further speculation in that direction. The movements of the New York politiclans always excite general interest at the captal of the nation, but in this particular instance the word "anxiety" might better express the feelings of the Democratic officeholders and the employees of the House and Senate, who are fearful of a change in the political complexion of the Administration and Congress.

Much criticism is passed upon the Democratio campaigners in various parts of the country, because so few of them appear to agree upon the issues upon which the pending conflict is to be carried on. Senator Voorhees, for Instance, who poses as the recognized leader of the Cuckoo squad in the Senate, praises the President in one breath, and in the next repudiates the President's financial policy and violently attacks the opponents of free silver. Speaker Crisp and Secretary Hoke Smith are also engaged at present in trying to split the Georgia Democrats on the silver question. Representatives Wilson of West Virginia Tarsney of Missouri, both members of the Ways and Means Committee, are clamoring for free sugar and denouncing the Sugar Trust, when they know that Senator Hill spoke the truth when he declared that the strongest argument made in favor of the Sugar strongest argument made in favor of the Sugar Trust was President Cleveland's advocacy of a duty on sugar in his famous letter to Mr. Wilson. Thus the Democratic campaigners are placed at a disadvantage in not having the issues upon which they are expected to speak harmoniously defined. It was the confusion among the party leaders that induced Gen. Chaucey F. Black of Pennsylvania to ignore the tariff and financial questions in his recent speech at Raleigh, N.C., and endeavor to arouse the interest of the tar-heel Democrats in the Nicaragua Canal. His friends say that it was his intention to divert attention from the tariff and silver and make the canal one of the leading issues of the campaign. His efforts, if sincere, were futile, apparently.

Senator Arthur P. Gorman was in Washington to-day for the first time since his return from Saratoga. He related a number of amusing incidents of the unsuccessful attempts made at Saratoga to interview him on general topics. One of the brightest and most energetic correspondents at the famous springs telegraphed to his paper:

"I met Senator Gorman at the Grand Union to-day and endeavored to interview him on the political situation. He replied that he came to Saratoga for rest and recreation, and not to talk politics. He evidently meant what he came to Saratoga for rest and recreation, and not to talk politics. He evidently meant what he came to Saratoga for rest and recreation, and not to talk politics. He evidently meant what he came to Saratoga for rest and recreation, and not to talk politics. He evidently meant what he came to Saratoga for rest and recreation, and not to talk politics, for he indicated quite plain that his mission to Washington was on private, not public, business. He found time to tell some of his reads about a splendid team of horses he obtained for his own use while at Saratoga. He is so infatuated with "Brentwood" and "Hijou" that he dispenses with the assistance of his coachiman and drives the team himself, in two days he has explored all the r Trust was President Cleveland's advocacy of a to-day he preferred to talk horse instead of politics.

Senator McPherson of New Jersey came to Washington to-day to consult his "cook" and the other domestics at his Vermont avenue residence. He called at the Democratic headquarters to inform Senator Faulkner that the political situation in New Jersey is not as discouraging as it has been described by some of the less hopeful members of the party. Senator McPherson obtained some campaign literature from the committee and returned to New York this afternoon to prepare for the campaign in his State. He proposes to take an active part in his State. He proposes to take an active part in his State will elect a majority of the Congress delegation and control the Legislature that will elect his successor.

COLLECTOR GROSSE'S SOCIALIST. He Makes Felerabend, the Foe of Otten-

Edward Grosse, the new United States Internal Revenue Collector for the Third district, took possession of his office yesterday, succeedappointment was characteristic. The Collector had been accused of socialistic tendencies, but it must be said that all his cuckor friends were surprised when he announced friends were surprised when he announced that he had made John Feierabend his deputy. Feierabend is a Brooklyn Socialist, who not long ago was prosecuted for criminal libel by Commissioner of Immigration Joseph H. Senner, one of Collector Grosse's backers with the Administration. Feierabend published for a time a little daily called G. G. in which he constantly lampooned Mr. Oswaid Ottendorfer, another of Mr. Grosse's backers for the place which he now holds. There are a lot of German cuckoos in the Seventh and Tenth Assembly districts who think that Mr. Grosse might have found a deputy without going to Brooklyn, if he couldn't find one elsewhere so inimical to the interests of Messrs. Ottendorfer and Senner.

A LAMB BOOM FOR CULLEN'S PLACE

Republicans to Name a Judiciary Candidate in Brooklyn on Saturday. The Republican Judiciary Convention for the nomination of a Justice of the Supreme Court in the Second Judicial district in place of Justice in the Second Judicial district in place of Justice Edgar M. Cullen, has been called for Saturday next at moon in the Circuit Court in Brooklyn. Although the Brooklyn Rar Association, irrespective of party, has declared unanimously in favor of Justice Cullen's renomination, some of the Republican statesmen have started a boom for Col. Albert E. Lamb, one of the minor prosecutors of the Gravesend election offenders. It is expected, however, that Justice Cullen will be named as his own successor by both parties.

SEPTUAGINT REVERIES.

Only Non-partisan Municipal Candidates Are Considered.

After a vacation of two days Mr. Charles Stewart Smith and his committee of sixteen resumed yesterday afternoon the selection of can-didates whom they consider suitable and proper persons for the voters of New York to elect. William H. Webb John Claffin, and James T. Archibald met with the committee for the first ime. For two hours this discussion of candidates, available and otherwise, was kept up The result of the deliberation was announced by Mr. Smith. He said that the Committee of Sev who is not absolutely non-partisan so far as mu nicipal matters are concerned. "In such matters," said he, "the candidate for Mayor must be without partisanship, and so far as I am concerned, I care not whether he be a Republican or a Democrat."

Mr. Smith's attention was called to the fact that Messrs. Platt, Brookfield, and others who are supposed to have some influence in Republican local politics have declared in favor of s Republican for Mayor, and that unqualifiedly. "I do not know what they may have said," he declared, "but I think in the end all those gen tlemen will support everything that the Com-

Mr. Smith admitted that the committee would probably come to no definite conclusion with reference to the selection of any candidate until after the several county conventions ap-pointed for this week have been held. His committee, however, will continue to meet daily. Its sessions will begin at 2 o'clock hereafter, instead of 3.

There are three places to be filled on the local ticket, for every one of which all the anti-Tammany organizations can be depended on to suggest candidates. If it were merely a matter of naming a candidate for Mayor, another candi-gest candidates. If it were merely a matter of naming a candidate for Mayor, another candidate for Recorder, and another for Judge of the Superior Court, Mr. Smith's committee, perhaps, would encounter a little difficulty, but it is in the effort to satisfy with three names all the organizations and all the elements which it will seek to coalesce, that committee expects to encounter its stump.

Another committee with a candidate for Mayor was appointed last night to confer with Mr. Smith's committee. The former committee will present C. C. Shayne as a Mayoralty candidate. Mr. Shayne's boom was launched last night, when a committee of about sixty gentlemen invaded his store at 124 West Forty-second street and presented him with a series of resolutions calling on him to stand as their candidate for Mayor. These gentlemen represented about twenty different trades and prefessions, and in their resolutions stated their belief that about 50,000 voters would support them in their demand that Mr. Shayne be the candidate. Speeches were made by Max M. Smith, Peter Well, Michael M. Mulhall, Max B. Quitman, R. B. Sheridan, Thomas Farrell, and B. J. Bosenthal, all of whom urged Mr. Shayne's acceptance of the nomination.

Replying to the gentlemen Mr. Shayne made a long speech, in which he said, among other things, that he did not favor a fusion ticket and believed that the Republican party should nomate a straight ticket for municipal officers. While he feared the non-success of a fusion ticket, Mr. Shayne said he had the utmost faith in the Committee of Seventy, and believed that their decision would be for the beat. Mr. Shayne said that he and not think that his name would need to be considered, as he understood the man to be nominated had been found. Of him he said:

"He is a substantial citizen, respected by all who know him, and with that experience which will fit him for the duties of Mayor. This relieves me of my obligation."

Mr. Shayne would not say who he believed had been chosen, but it was whispered that the will fit him for the duties of Mayor. This relieves me of my obligation."

Mr. Shayne would not say who he believed had been chosen, but it was whispered that the man meant was William L. Strong, President of the Central National Bank, and an uncompromising Republican. Nobody else seemed to know that Mr. Strong had been selected to make the race against the Tammany candidate.

Republican conventions were held in all the Assembly districts last evening for the selection of delegates to the County Convention to be held next Thursday night. Several of the conventions passed resolutions endorsing the proposal for a fusion ticket against Tammany Hall, but insisting on the nomination of a Republican for Mayor. Conventions in the Tenth and Eleventh Assembly districts called for the nomination of Cornelius N. Bliss for Mayor.

UNDERMINING MILHOLLAND.

Secret Meeting of Some of His District

There was a well-attended meeting of Mil-nolland Republican leaders at 289 Third avenue last night. Mr. John E. Milholland was no present, because he did not get one of the following telegraphed invitations:

Meet me and Kerwin at 269 Third avenue to-night.

No. 289 Third avenue is the headquarters of the Milholland organization of the gas house district, of which Dr. A. S. Houghton and T. St. John Gaffney are the district leaders. The rooms were filled last night and the do closed and guarded, Mr. Joseph Wilkinson Milholland's county organization, acted as door keeper, admitting those whose presence was desired and turning away others. He was very anxious to know how THE SUN's reporter "got onto" the meeting, and asked if Milholland "steered" him over there. He said it was merely an informal meeting; that he didn't send out any notices of the meeting; but he admitted that most of the Assembly districts were represented.

that most of the Assembly districts were represented.

The fact of the matter is that the friends of Mr. Platt in the Milholland movement, under the leadership of Police Commissioner Kerwin, Chairman of Milholland's Executive Committee, are bound to see to it that the organization is not used in the coming campaign in any way detrimental to the unterests of Mr. Platt, the Republican machine or its candidates. To-night is the regular meeting night of the Executive Committee. It has been the custom of Mr. Milholland to have a programms of the proposed proceedings of the Executive Committee carefully prepared and to get through the business of the meeting is most approved machine fashion. It is believed, however, that Mr. Milholland's slate, if he has any to-morrow, will be smached, particularly if there is in it any proposition to nominate a straight ticket at the coming County Convention of the organization or to place in nomination any candidates opposed to the regular candidates of the party for Congress and Assembly.

It has been more than hinted by somesof the sembly.

It has been more than hinted by some of the Mihodiand followers that they propose to run candidates in certain of the Assembly districts. This is particularly so in the Eighth, the Sixth, and the Seventh. If Milholiand and his friends afternot to carry out this policy they will probably find their organization divided and broken up, if they do not find that Mr. Platt is in control of it through a majority of the Executive Committee.

crei of it through a majority of the Executive Committee.

Among those who are said to have been present at last night's meeting are William F. Daly off the Teeth, McDonald of the Twenty-sixth, Henry Grasse of the Twenty-seventh, J. R. Angell of the Twenty-ninth, Dr. Hamilton Williams of the Ninth, John McMackin of the Twenty-eighth. Frank J. Martin of the Third, and A. S. Houghton of the Twenty-eighth, etc., Milholiand's special friends, like Dr. L. L. Saman, ex-Alderman James G. McMurray, Henry Clay Piercy, and Moses G. Byers, were invited to the meeting, it is said.

[Notification of Republican t undidates. Chairman Hackett of the Executive Committee of the Republican State Committee will consuit to-day with city members of the committee appointed to notify the Republican candidates appointed to notify the Republican candidates on the State ticket of their nomination and try to fig on a time and place for such notification. Mr. Morton, the candidate for floweriner, is expected in the city to day, and will probably be resent at the consultation. Morses, Carringes, &c.

CADY'S UNEXPECTED BOOM. The Result of the Democratic Canons to Connecticut.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 24.—The caucus of the delegates to the Democratic State Convention was held this evening, and ex-Lieut,-Gov. Ernst Cady developed unlooked-for strength. Hartford, his own county, gave him almost unentmous support, while the Tolland, Windham, and Litchfield delegates are also for him. New Haven county failed to make a selection and is unpledged, with the majority in favor of Cady. Beardsley's strength lies in Fairfield county.

with a few delegates from New Haven. The other places on the ticket are not fully provided for, but Mayor E. G. Kilduff of Waterbury is New Haven county's choice for Secre-tary of State.

bury is New Haven county's choice for Secretary of State.

By United Press.

New Haven, Sept. 24.—The Democratic State Convention meets here to-morrow to put in the field a full State ticket, and to-night the contest has narrowed down to two men for the first position on the ticket. These are Judge Beardaley of Hridgeport and Lieut-Gov. Cady of Hartford. In the fight over these the balance of the ticket is lost sight of.

The various county delegations met in caucus during the evening. The Fairfield delegates were in session only a few minutes, unanimously endorsing Judge Beardsley. New London, Windnam, Tolland, Litchfield, Middlesex, and New Haven counties are reported as unpledged. Middlesex has a candidate for second place in the person of E. K. Hubbard of Middletown.

The Hartford county caucus furnished the ex-place in the person of E. K. Hubbard of Middletown.

The Hartford county cancus furnished the excitement of the evening. Ex-Congressman Robert J. Vance of New Britain presided, and Senator Pierce of Bristol moved that the delegation present the name of Lieut.-Gov. Cady for Governor.

The informal vote showed Cady 40, Beardsley 17, Benedict 2, and Sargent 1. There were passages at arms between Chairman Vance and the delegates when it was moved to make the ballot formal and unanimous, and finally, by a vote of 35 to 15, it was voted to make it formal, but not unanimous. The caucus then adjourned until morning.

Ex-Senator George M. Gunn of Millford, will be temporary chairman of the Convention, and it is expected will preside at the permanent organization. Cal. Morris G. Osborn of the New Haven Register is slated for the chairmanship of the resolutions committee. It is understood that the platform will not touch upon national issues.

It will be very strong on the point of constiissues.

It will be very strong on the point of consti-tutional revision. Something may be easid as to the Legislative lobby and the A. P. A. move-ment. The State Central Committee was in session to-night. There are no contesting dele-gations.

M'KINLEY AND HARRISON. The Former Disposes of Rumors as to Bis.

ferences Between Thom. INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 24 .- A rumor was affect would not attend the Republican rally of Tues day, at which Gen. Harrison is to pre was given as the reason, the real cause was the fact that Harrison had been asked to preside, thus giving the McKinley faction a back seat. The State Republican Committee became so anxious about these reports that a telegram was sent to Gov. McKinley this morning asking him about them. about them.

In reply, the Governor said that he would be here without fail, and that he had entirely recovered. That any differences have arisen between him and Gen. Harrison is emphatically denied by the friends of both.

Gov. McKinley arrived at 10:15 o'clock tonight and was received with the greatest enthusiasm.
